The People's Column

Bud Russell came through here on Sunday with a bunch of prisoners, en route to the state prison farms from various points where he had picked them up for transfer. A local citizen noted them here and stopped to see the proceedings. One thing that this citizen deplored was the fact that many young white men were chained together with negroes and the wish was expressed that this condition might be altered. Because a negro and a white man are both criminals is no reason for placing them on a social equality. The citizen would like to see this matter taken up with the proper authorities to put an end to this practice.

Stanfords Home From Long Trip To the North

J. E. Stanford, Mrs. Stanford and their children, Alia, Evelyn and John, returned yesterday by car from a long trip through Arkansas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri, while he has been on vacation from his work as district agent for the Extension Service Department of the A. and M. College. The family left Bryan on June 12 and went to Wharton in East Texas, where several days were spent while Mr. Stanford was on official business in connection with the College. Then they started on their vacation trip, going to the Ozarks by way of De Queen, Mena, and Fort Smith; thence through Oklahoma by way of Muskogee and through the world's largest lead and zinc mines at Miami and Picher, Oklahoma; northward through Kansas at such points as Baxter Springs and Galena; to Joplin and Neosho, Missouri. Here they found the dairy and poultry business very flourishing. Mr. Stanford said that he spent several days at Noel, back in the Ozarks, and fished—but caught no fish, having his usual luck.

The party returned by way of Fayetteville, seeing the Arkansas University and covering the same route that was taken in going to Missouri. Mr. Stanford said they came through wonderful apple and grape fields around Bentonville, Arkansas, the best thing he saw in the way of agricultural development on the whole trip of more than 1200 miles. He covered a part of his territory during the last week, on the return trip.

U. S. SUBMARINE S-51 IS TOWED INTO THE NAVY YARDS

SUBMARINE GROUNDS IN THE EAST RIVER ON WAY IN FROM ISLAND

Under-Water Boat Sunk Near Black Island Nine Months Ago After Collision with Steamer "City of Rome"—Raised and Now on Way to Navy Yard—Be Towed in When Tide Lifts.

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, July 7.—After completing what was believed to have been the most difficult part of the 135-mile voyage, the raised United States Submarine S-51 grounded today in East River while being towed to the Navy Yard here. All that remained to view after the collision was the conning tower. Officers said a missing buoy and misguidance of civilian pilots were the causes of the grounding of the vessel, which sank off Block Island nine months ago after a collision with the steamer "City of Rome". The submarine was raised by Navy officers. It was pointed out that it may be necessary to wait for high tide to float the submersible again.

R. Etheridge Is Hurt In Runaway

(Special to the Eagle).
HARVEY, July 7.—Russell Etheridge was badly cut and bruised yesterday while driving a team of mules for the pipe line. The team ran away, dashing into a barbed wire fence, pulling down many posts as they went. Russell was thrown from the wagon and dragged along some distance. His legs were badly cut. He also received a bad cut on the throat, and as some people, so it came to Mr. Robert Etheridge yesterday. As he was returning with Russell, he encountered a storm just on this side of Hudson's bridge, about a mile from his home. Ascending the muddy hill, made slick by the heavy rain, he became blinded by the sheets of rain in his face, for the car had no top, and must have steered too near the deep ditch on his left. The car skidded into the ditch, which was about six feet deep. The narrowness of the ditch at that place and the high bank on outside prevented it from turning over, or he would probably have lost his life. Fortunately no one was hurt. But a puzzled bunch was standing by as your correspondent passed, wondering how to start about extracting the car.

Mr. Pierce was showing the pistol to his uncle, Hugh Royal, of El Paso, who is in Waco attending the letter carriers' convention. The pistol dropped from Mr. Pierce's hand to the floor and was discharged, passing through the fleshy part of the leg.

Financial Needs Of A-M. College Be Heard On 26th

AUSTIN, July 7.—July 26 has been fixed as the tentative date by the State Board of Control to hear the money needs of the A. and M. College and its several branches, including the agricultural experiment stations. A large total of appropriations is to be requested and the college will be represented by its president and some of its directors. The College has reached a standstill in its growth and unless money is provided for more barracks or dormitories the student body can not be enlarged except through tents and campus shacks the authorities say.

The University of Texas is yet to arrange an engagement with the board to ask for its appropriations, but it will be near the A. and M. College hearing. The College of Industrial Arts will be heard Thursday. Doctor-superintendents of the various State hospitals will be heard by the board Wednesday and Thursday. These include the doctor-superintendents of the Abilene State Hospital, which is for epileptics; the State Sanatorium for Tuberculars at Carlsbad and the Austin State School, which is for the feeble-minded. The board is to recommend increases in salaries for all hospital heads.

The building is 30x100 feet in the clear and 16 feet to the ceiling, leaving plenty of room for balcony, etc. This is a splendid location for that kind of business and with the experience he has had in the furniture line, Mr. Parks should enjoy a successful venture. Charles Baughman Candidate Railroad Commissioner Here

Charles E. Baughman, candidate for railroad commissioner was in Bryan today greeting friends and making new acquaintances in the interest of his campaign. Mr. Baughman is from Brown county. In discussing his candidacy, Mr. Baughman stated: "The people should demand of their public servants that more attention be given to honesty and efficiency than to mere political expediency."

"A public servant's effort should not end with a simple discharge of the sworn duties of the office. He should be on the lookout for something to do for his people beyond this."

"Honesty in political affairs is just as necessary as in any other sphere and the building of political machines, while in office, is a menace to good government."

"If the people of Texas will honor me with the office I am seeking, I will work at the job. I will seek to lift some of the burdens and in a worthwhile way be an agent of the people to further their commercial and industrial relationships."

"I will never catch me asleep when there is a hearing in progress and when a railroad is seeking to deny that desire and that right, you will find me there not as a co-worker with the L. C. but as an agent of the people of Texas and truly representing her interests."

"I will not resign the post to accept some other place, regardless of the salary to be paid. I will appreciate the honor and trust and will neither barter nor sell the prestige of the office."

Mr. Baughman left this afternoon for Navasota.

Marketing of Poultry Taken Up At Meeting

The poultry association held an interesting meeting at the Chamber of Commerce rooms on Tuesday night. Allen Smith, who had been invited to address the meeting, was called out of town and hence did not appear on the program. The meeting, presided over by President Will M. Jones, was turned into a general round-table discussion of poultry problems, chief among which was the marketing problem. Among the many suggestions offered as being helpful in bettering the marketing situation, pooling of high class products was considered to have greater possibilities than perhaps any other one thing. In this way a reputation for a fine local market could be built up, bringing profit to both producer and dealer, and at the same time getting a product on the market that would attract the larger centers, always anxious to get quality products.

Attention was called to the fact that the retail merchant has not always been sold on the matter of paying a better price for quality eggs instead of buying in "hog round" lots, thus penalizing the producer who tries to put quality eggs on the market by having to compete with the producer who offers to the trade from time to time eggs that will not do for human consumption.

G. L. Crawford of the Experiment Station told of a marketing organization which functioned in Williamson county for many years, featuring quality products which always commanded a premium. Other poultrymen told of their success in putting quality eggs on the local market, one producer stating that the demand for his products had increased beyond his supply.

V. J. Boriskie, Carl Wipprecht, and County Agent C. L. Beason were appointed a committee to confer with Allen Smith concerning the matter of speaking to poultry raisers on things they should do to improve market for quality and poultry products, all recognizing the important position Mr. Smith occupies with reference to the future of the poultry industry in Bryan and surrounding counties. The same committee was also asked to serve in trying to locate a place to hold the big poultry show December 9-10-11.

Among those present at the meeting were George O. Turner, Will M. and Roland Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Walker, W. O. Sanders, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Crenshaw, Dr. Henry Wickes, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Boriskie, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Crawford, and County Agent C. L. Beason.

Owing to the Short Course in session on the first Monday night in August, the next meeting of the poultry association will be held second Monday night in August.

LUBBOCK AVALANCHE RECOUNTS WEDDING OF MRS. MINA GRAHAM POOLE AND WILLIAM McMILLAN

A wedding marked by beauty and solemnity occurred at 8:45 o'clock Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. F. M. Bowen, Sr., 2124 16th Street, when Mrs. Mina Graham Poole and William Garrett McMillan were united in marriage. The Rev. W. A. Bowen, pastor of the First Baptist Church, reading the ring ceremony. A color motif of pink and green was used in the decorations of the home, and in the adornment of the improvised altar where the ceremony took place. The altar was at one end of the long living room, and had a rose entwined trellis as a background. Tall baskets of flowers and fern were placed at either side. Pink larkspur and huge pink double poppies added a lovely effect to the decorations. Mrs. Foy Proctor of Midland sweetly sang "All for You" preceding the ceremony. She was accompanied by Mrs. Blanche Beakley who also played the wedding march from Lohengrin as the bride couple entered. "To a Wild Rose" was softly heard during the ceremony. The bride was lovely in an imported model of French blue crepe chiffon, with lace picture hat to match, and silver shoes and silver satin slippers. The dress was made with wide bands of heavily embroidered net of the same shade combined with chiffon, and with Grecian draperies ending in a bow on the front of the bodice. Mrs. Poole wore a corsage of sweet peas and spatie laetifera. The wedding was followed by a small reception, only the closest friends of Mr. and Mrs. McMillan being present at the wedding and the reception. The wedding cake and the punch were served by Mrs. W. L. Stangel and Miss Sammie Padgett, from the dining table which was gracefully adorned with flowers, snowy linen, and silver. The wedding cake was beautifully embossed in pink and white. Mrs. McMillan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Get money; still get money, boy. No matter by what means.—Ben Johnson (1872-1897.)

No one can be perfectly free till all are free! No one can be perfectly moral till all are moral; no one can be perfectly happy till all are happy!—Herbert Spencer.

The socialist scheme has at its root the mystical fallacy of democracy, that the people, all of them, are competent.—Walter Lippmann.

One may keep on saying a thing until they actually come to believe it is true; yet that doesn't make it true. That is the way we feel about half of this political propaganda that is going the rounds.

THINK STRAIGHT

"If we could only clear the teaching ranks of obsolete teachers, I think that we should not be long in removing obsolete methods of school administration and support."—Principal L. W. Johnson.

The old expression, "tobbing Peter to pay Paul," is believed to date from 160 when lands belonging to the Cathedral of St. Peter at Westminster were appropriated to repair St. Paul's Cathedral.

"I wish we had a city ordinance that would prevent people from strewing circulars all over town," said a Bryan citizen today. "Circulars are thrown in yards and houses and make an unsightly mess. They are also thrown in cars parked downtown and often a person has got to excavate a while before he can get into his circular-burdened car."

POOR ROADS

A party returning Sunday night from a trip to Houston reports poor roads all the way from Navasota to the paving at the other boundary of Waller county, with the worst stretch being in Waller county. Here the large rocks have been dragged up in the middle of the road and are a menace to castles; the chug holes making danger of broken springs imminent. This is on the King's Trail, one of the main State highways, north and south, and should be fixed up at the very earliest possible date.

One of the Extension Service agents of the A. and M. College was recently eating in a hotel in North Texas. A travelling man sat opposite him at the table. Finally, the travelling man spoke up and said: "I believe I can tell you from what part of the country you come. Will you give me three guesses?" The A. and M. man told him to go ahead. The travelling man said: "I believe you are from the New England States and probably from Massachusetts." "You needn't go any farther," said the A. and M. man. "I am from Boston. How did you know?" The travelling man replied: "I saw you cream and sugar on your rice instead of gravy."

"STOCK-TAKING" TIME

"Stock-taking" is the order of the day in most of the business houses of Bryan. By this procedure every merchant will be able to ascertain whether they have made or lost money during the first six months of the year. It wouldn't be a bad idea for us all as individuals to stop for a few hours and take stock of ourselves and see if we are carrying an overstock of malice and hate in our hearts against our neighbors. Prejudice, jealousy and idle gossiping poisons the human mind, and brings the most hurt to the person that harbors it rather than to the person against whom it is felt. Be honest with yourself, scrutinize yourself closely, and if you find any of these things lurking in your thoughts, remedy it, for sooner or later it will cause you anguish and grief.

THE CALL FOR SERVICE.

Sunday, July 4th 1912, marked the one-hundred and fiftieth anniversary of American Independence. How many of us have stopped and taken stock of ourselves to see just how much we're giving personally to keep alive that spirit that animated our forefathers and if we are meeting our responsibility to "carry on" for those who have served and sacrificed for us. This is an age when we need patriots. God in His infinite wisdom raised the minute men of '76, they saved the country and gave independence to you and to me. In '61 there arose another martyred band of patriots, who answered their country's call and as a result of the blood that flowed so freely, America today stands the foremost nation of the world. Yes, we need patriots. The patriot of today is not called on to shoulder a gun, neither is he called on to shed his blood, but the call is for service, unselfish service, personal service, service to every man like, whether he be great or small. The foundation of all true greatness, whether it be for the individual or the nation is moral not material. As the people of the United States look back over the past one hundred and fifty years and note the progress that has been made, they should not forget that it is only a beginning of the great work that lies just ahead. But we should not forget also that our possessions, lands, homes, etc., are but piles of trash compared with our character. Wealth may come and go, power and fame may wax and wane, but the moral judgments of the world are the same in every age, yesterday and forever. No splendor of accumulated wealth or power can make any nation truly great or rich, but it is the invisible assets counted by that counts—its service to humanity.

RURAL SCHOOLS.

Texas ranks thirty-seventh among the forty-eight states of the Union in education because of the stunted condition of our rural school system, according to W. L. Hughes, professor of rural education at A. and M. College, who addressed the Dallas County Agricultural Advisory board here Friday.

Undoubtedly, Professor Hughes is correct. We have a state university of the first rank, an agricultural and mechanical college among the best in the country, and an extensive system of normal schools and colleges in all parts of the state, but our rural schools are largely makeshifts.

When we read that the state university, by reason of its oil land, is one of the wealthiest universities in the world, we cannot fail to see the huge disparity between this institution and the thousands of small schoolhouses in the country where the rural children must attend to prepare for entrance to these higher institutions.

One is inclined to believe that the university should find some way to divide its huge fortune with these rural schools. As long as the boys and girls on the farm are virtually deprived of an opportunity to prepare for the higher schools the great university cannot be used to full capacity.

But Texas rural schools are much better than they were fifteen years ago. It is true that many children must stay out of school and pick cotton, but when they do begin class work they are more efficiently taught. The prosperity of the state has been reflected by better conditions on the farm.

Obviously, the main reason the farmers have not provided better schools for their children is that they were not financially able to do so. In his struggle to survive he has been forced to have his children help gather the cotton crop. The move toward diversification of crops is a step toward bettering conditions on the farm. Diversification has been made possible by commercial development of the state. The number of money crops is increasing and the farm prosperity will mean better schools for farm children.—Dallas Times-Herald.

H. H. Williamson Is Elected Head Of Business Class

Election of new officers, and the installation of same with appropriate ceremonies, was the order of business before the Business Men's Bible Class of the First Baptist church on Sunday morning, July 4th at Carnegie library. The following new officers were installed to serve during the coming term of six months: H. H. Williamson, president; D. Paul Dansby, first vice president; C. Edgar Jones, second vice president; R. E. Ellis, secretary; A. S. McSwain, treasurer; H. S. Locke, orchestra leader; N. F. Lockard, choir leader; Mrs. L. E. Dowd, pianist; A. J. Buchanan, reporter; Judge W. C. Davis, teacher; Rev. R. E. Day, pastor of the church, assistant teacher.

In accepting the duties, Judge W. C. Davis and H. H. Williamson each made a talk before the class, pledging their very best efforts in carrying on the activities of the organization and asking for the cooperation of every class member. It was a high day of interest and enthusiasm for this splendid class of splendid men, and the coming months will show results of renewed consecration. Carl Jones of Reliance, was present as a visitor, and told the class that he, as a Sunday School teacher in his home church, was present to gain information and inspiration for work in his own class, and assured the Business Men's Class of the pleasure and profit his visit had given to him.

Tabor Students On Honor Roll Houston School

When the honor roll, containing five names, comprising the most brilliant students of the class of 39 at Massey's Business College at Houston, was given out, it was found to contain two from Brazos county, both of Tabor community and graduates of Tabor high school. They are: Adolph Conrad and Miss Dell Fuller. Both graduated at Tabor in the class of 1925. Miss Dell Fuller was the honor pupils of the graduation class with an average of 94.4. Adolph had an average of 87, despite the fact that he was in practically every school activity. In athletics he took part in baseball, basketball, and in five events in track. He and Miss Fuller both took part in the school plays and social functions, and both were members of the boys' and girls' agricultural club. Miss Fuller belongs to the Kuhn Paint Company of Houston and Miss Dell Fuller is employed in the offices of Massey's Business College where she has been for the past two weeks awaiting a permanent opening.

The placing of these two on the honor roll brings honor to the students, to Brazos county and especially to Tabor rural high school where they attended school and graduated. Professor and Mrs. W. G. Colson were the leaders of the Tabor community and Mr. Colson was the principal of the school.

Mrs. McDonald And Mrs. Smith To Short Course

Mrs. Grant McDonald of the King's Highway Club, and Mrs. Herbert Smith of the Tabor Club, are the winners of the scholarships to the Farmers' Short Course at A. and M. College.

Mrs. Grant McDonald won the county prize in the Improved Kitchen Contest, and will be awarded the scholarship given by the Campus Study Club. Mrs. McDonald's kitchen is certainly an improvement, one that not only Mrs. McDonald but her whole club is proud of. She says she does not see how she kept house before.

Mrs. Herbert Smith won the highest place in the showings of spring vegetables, competing with the women of Kurten, King's Highway and Tabor. Her vegetables were of an especially good quality with a splendid variety.

Steep Hollow's Play Is Given On Friday Night

"An Home Came Ted" was the title of the home-talent play presented last night in the Steep Hollow auditorium at the community center, beginning at 8:30 o'clock. The auditorium has but recently been created by eliminating the partition between the two rooms of the school house. These rooms will be left thrown together until school opens in the fall and then a partition that can be removed will be put in place. The auditorium was well filled with the large audience.

The proceeds of the play amounted to $92.80, including $23.75 which Mr. S. E. Eberstadt procured in auctioning off a cake which was given for the occasion by Mrs. Robert Jones. The expenses of the presentation of the play are estimated at around $10 so that something over $80 will have been cleared for the fund that is paying for the Delco Light Plant recently installed to light the schoolhouse and the two churches, all in the community center.

Among those from Bryan attending were: Misses Abbie Sevier, county home demonstration agent; Ella Bandelin, county public health nurse; Una Edge, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. McSwain, Jess Conlee, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Dodson, Judge J. T. Maloney, Dr. C. A. Searcy, and daughter, Miss Ralphanna; Mrs. Ethel Edmunds and mother Mrs. J. D. Conlee; Mr. and Mrs. Amos Williams, Mrs. Mattie Hall, Miss Bertha Beal, Robert Jones and family, Mrs. B. L. Beal and family; Julius M. Barron, Philip Hensarling and wife, J. W. Hicks, Marvin Morehead and Miss Davis; also quite a number from the communities of Harvey and Reliance.

Extension Picnic at Old Washington

By W. H. DARROW
Extension Editor

A pilgrimage to the cradle of Texas liberty, old Washington and Independence, was made Saturday by members of the A. and M. College Extension Service Staff and their families and friends. Uniquely celebrating the Fourth of July, the party of about 50 stopped at Washington to see the replica of the first capital of Texas, and then at Independence to view the historic ruins of that early educational center.

The old days of the Texas revolution were made to live over again by Mrs. J. Wallace Brosig of Navasota, former chairman of the Washington Park Commission; Dr. S. E. Asbury of the Texas Experiment Station, and Mrs. Lillie Penney, an old Independence resident.

Settled in 1824 by P. T. Cole, the first school established in 1838, the charter for Baylor College granted by the Republic of Texas in 1845, Independence, according to Mrs. Brosig, gave Texas its first great educational and religious impulse. Down the hill, in the old Baptist Church built in 1845, she pointed out the seat where General Sam Houston was wont to sit following his conversion. Outside the church the children rang again the old silver lined bell given by Mrs. Lee, the mother-in-law of Houston.

Being particularly interested in the enshrining Washington as a State Park, Mrs. Brosig told the story of how Texas political freedom had its birth in the old blacksmith shop where George C. Childress penned on March 2nd, 1836, the famous Texas Declaration of Independence. Washington, which, incidentally, was named for a town in Georgia, became and remained, except for one short interval, the capital of the young Republic until moved to Austin in 1845.

Details of the "runaway scrape" in which a large part of the Texas population started for East Texas and the United States following the news of the fall of the Alamo in March, 1836, were supplied by Dr. Asbury, who stressed the impulse of securing stories of revolutionary days from old timers before it is too late.

Mrs. Penney moved to Independence in 1881, and entered the Baylor Female College in the following year. At that time there were about 90 girls in attendance. The combined enrollment of the girls' college and Baylor College on a neighboring hill is estimated to have been nearly 2,000 at one time. These colleges, however, were moved to Belton and Waco, respectively, in 1885.

Returning home, the party visited the old Seward home on the outskirts of Independence. This old mansion was built in 1860 by the father of O. A. Seward, the present owner, and its sturdy construction and graceful architecture are eloquent reminders of the former greatness of this region. The four foot solid stone foundations, the cedar floors and beams, and the spacious porches excite admiration and kindle the imagination. Mr. and Mrs. Seward, in their gracious reception of guests, seemed to be keeping alive the old tradition of genuine Southern hospitality.

Washington and Independence, according to the expressed opinion of many, should be connected by a good highway and maintained as historical parks by the State, in commemoration of the political liberty and educational and religious stimulation that were born there.

The following men and their families were present: C. H. Alvord, H. H. Williamson, A. L. Smith, A. P. Swallow, J. T. Egan, G. W. Orms, H. E. Randolph, V. R. Glazener, E. M. Regenbrecht, G. W. Johnson, W. B. Smith, C. B. Webster and W. H. Darrow. Others present were: Mrs. C. L. Reason, Miss Jennie Camp, Miss Bess Edwards, Miss Bennie Campbell, Miss Juanita Spott, L. H. Childs, Reid McDonald, Mrs. S. C. Evans, Mrs. O. D. Duncan, Miss Lillie May Walton, Mrs. J. W. Brosig of Navasota, Mrs. Lillie Penney of Independence, and Dr. S. E. Asbury.

"The difficulty is that we want to take things too much as a matter of course, and we also want to look over the fence into the other's pasture and wonder why his grass seems just a little bit greener and sweeter than ours. Isn't that the fact—of course it is. That only reminds me of a story, one about a dog. This dog was walking along a log across a river. When he looked down into the water he thought he saw another dog with a bigger bone than his; so he dropped his bone and reached down for the other one, but there wasn't any other bone and his had landed in the water. Why that is the trouble with us, we go along thinking 'If I only had the other fellow's job or place then I would be so much better off.' Boys and girls, the trouble is we don't look around and see what we ourselves are getting out of life."

"We boys and girls with our motto, the four H's, 'Head, Heart, Hand and Health, have adopted for ourselves, have an answer to most of the growling and complaining in this country. An educated head is not necessarily educated in college. No indeed not—but is educated in 'know how' of doing the thing you have made up your mind to do, no matter what it is. These kind old ladies and gentlemen here tonight, they wouldn't give very much for the boy or girl that can do a thing but does not know how he or she does it; it is not the doing it that interests them, but they want to know the boy or girl that knows why and how he does a thing—that is education of your head. So an educated head, backed with a heart that has the proper spirit of loyalty to country, to friends, to neighbors, and to the work you are engaged in, plus hands that are willing, hands that are trained, hands that are not afraid of plus the fundamental of health without which neither an educated head, nor a willing heart, nor a willing hand is able to function, makes the completed whole that in my judgment, as expressed by the boys and girls club work, is a complete answer for the future to the grumblings and complaining of the past."

"Just a few more words while I have the floor. We hear a great deal about standards of living on the farm and standards of living in the city. Let me tell you boys and girls something. There is not a farmer in America today who uses intelligence, integrity, and a little bit of thrift, who is not better off on his farm, however humble it may be, than any employee in any city."

"You needn't talk to me about the farmer not being able to make a living on the farm. What does the city man, the man who works in this factory or in that foundry, or in that store or bank, get out of his employment? Very few of them get more than this: A home in which to live—and that will cost them in any city today a rent of practically 30 per cent of a salary of $2,400 a year—food, clothing, a little perhaps for doctor bills and other expenses, and a mighty little left 'or any other purpose. These men who are working in these banks or stores or factories will tell you and me, that this is true. It takes all he makes to buy what Mr. Farmer gets for almost nothing."

"Boys and girls, the farmer gets a roof over his head—don't forget that, and generally a better one than the man in the city buys with his money; he can grow in his garden almost every bit of food that he requires. He can grow on his farm all the meats that he needs. He can grow all the feed stuff that his livestock requires; and when he is through and before he offers anything for sale, from which he gets his cash, he has gotten out of life during the year—and working no harder than the fellow in the city. All that the fellow in the city gets by spending everything he earns with his labor. Then Mr. Farmer starts selling his surplus products, and nine out of ten times, if he has used intelligence on his farm he will have a larger cash balance at the end of the year than the man who works for the average wages the Missouri Pacific Lines will be given free trips with all expenses paid to the annual Farmers Short Course at College Station on August 2 to 7, inclusive, according to an announcement made by H. R. Safford, executive vice president.

One free trip will be given from each county served by the Gulf Coast Lines, International-Great Northern, S. A. U. and G. and Asherton and Gulf railroads, all of which are Missouri Pacific properties. Any regularly enrolled member of the Boys and Girls Agricultural and Home Demonstration Clubs in the counties supporting a county agent or home demonstration agent will be eligible under the rules.

The counties from where winners will be selected under a regular contest include Anderson, Bexar, Brazoria, Brazos, Cameron, Cherokee, Dimmit, Ellis, Fort Bend, Frio, Galveston, Gregg, Grimes, Hardin, Harris, Hidalgo, Hill, Houston, Jackson, Kleberg, Liberty, McLennan, Madison, Medina, Milam, Montgomery, Nueces, Newton, Orange, Robertson, Rush, San Patricio, Smith, Travis, Uvalde, Victoria, Walker, Williamson and Wood.

In each county a contest will be conducted in writing a brief story of not more than 1000 words on "The Agricultural Possibilities of that county" the contestant writing on his or her county. In each county the county judge, county agent, the home demonstration agent and the school superintendent will constitute a committee to select an impartial judging committee of three to pass upon the stories submitted. Each contestant must prepare his or her story without assistance, other than the collection of necessary data. All papers will be graded upon the basis of 100.

All stories submitted in the contest must be submitted to the county agent or home demonstration agent on or before July 15. Papers when received will be numbered and immediately filed so that they may be made available to the judging committee at the appointed time.

The Missouri Pacific Lines will give the winning story writer in each county transportation to and from College Station, and provide board and lodging while at the Farmers Short Course from August 2 to August 7, inclusive. Besides this there will be certain forms of entertainment and amusement in connection with the regular programs of this kind, which will make the trip even more alluring for the winner.

"We believe that much good can be accomplished by Texas boys and girls attending the Farmers Short Course," Mr. Safford said. "By applying themselves to the work to be undertaken there they can increase their knowledge of scientific farming or associated effort, and thereby benefit not alone themselves but their friends, and ultimately the state."

Further information on regulations governing the contest can be obtained by communicating with W. B. Darrow, cultural agent of the Missouri Pacific Lines at Houston, it was said.

W. H. Matthews Home From A Trip Kerrville

Rev. W. H. Matthews, jovial and congenial secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at College Station, has just returned from Kerrville where he led the singing at the synodical conference of Presbyterian young people and had charge of the Bible hour at the encampment. He spent 10 days there and was evidently so enthused over the wonderful climate and local conditions that he returns home with tales of the life there that makes one wonder how a preacher can spread such good news. He says that he ate part of a four pound bass but did not state how much nor who caught it. He said he had a great time there where the oats made 75 to 100 bushels to the acre and where the farmers with large acreages had to borrow land for less fortunate neighbors to stack the wheat on. He said the swimming hole was blue and deep and cool and soothing and inspiration and some more things. He concluded by saying that as they were between Fredericksburg and Kerrville, on the highway, a fine deer crossed the road just ahead of them, leaped the barbed wire fence and dashed off in the brush. Still worse, he states that while crossing a cement dip in the road, driving through shallow water covering the dip, a big black bass jumped clear over the radiator.

Now everybody that believes all this, stand on their heads. Mr. Matthews, we don't see many feet in the air.

REPORTS ARE RECEIVED AT C. OF C. MEET

Clyde and his sister, Miss Icy left by car for Houston and will remain with their father until his condition is changed. The many friends of Mr. Goen will hope for his speedy recovery and anxiously await further news of his condition.

Kurten Picnic Is Attended By A Large Crowd

The annual picnic of the Evangelical Church at Kurten was held on Thursday, July 1, at the school grounds with Rev. J. J. Kaskis, pastor, in charge as master of ceremonies. He also directed the music of the Kurten brass band, which furnished music throughout the day. Dinner was served at 12:30, the basket lunches being spread on the tables which were laden with every good thing to eat and with four times the amount needed to serve the large audience present.

At 2:00 the band furnished music for community singing and Sam Eberstadt of the Bryan Chamber of Commerce separated the crowd from $35.50 for three small cakes this fund going to the benefit of the Evangelical Church. Hon. F. L. Henderson then introduced the candidates who addressed the crowd and presented their various claims for office. At the close of the speaking by the candidates, Mr. Henderson delivered a splendid address on "Education" which was much enjoyed.

Dr. J. F. Hurff Has Sold All of His Jelly Product

Dr. J. F. Hurff, principal of the Kurten school, has just returned from Houston where he sold his entire output of jellies canned from native wild grapes and plums, several thousand glasses. The total will run well over 4,000. Mr. Hurff gathers the wild plums and grapes when ripe and bottles the juice, which, at a more convenient time is made into jellies. Dr. Hurff, who, by payment of the license fee, could practice medicine, has a formula which he uses in making the jelly and one man in Bryan has already purchased four dozen glasses of the jelly and says he is getting fat on it. Evidently the jelly is most beneficial. While this is a new industry for Bryan, and a small beginning, it has the possibilities of bringing great returns to both Dr. Hurff and Bryan.

STEEL HOLLOW CLUB BOY GROWS FINE YARD BEANS

Raymond Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Moore, age 11 years, club boy of Steel Hollow, brought to The Eagle office Saturday a bunch of yard beans, the very first we had ever seen. We don't know why they are called yard beans unless it is because they are supposed to measure a yard long, however, Raymond's lacked a few inches of making a yard. When asked what they beans were good for, Raymond answered by saying: "When young they were as good as snap beans and later could be given to stock." Raymond's stock of the beans is limited. He got his start from a neighbor, who gave him a few seeds. The young lad takes great pride in his project.

Jim Frances Is Seriously Ill At Goose Creek

Mrs. Jas. S. Francis of Tabor, received a message from Goose Creek on Saturday afternoon at a late hour, telling of the serious injury of her grandson, Jim Francis, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Francis of Goose Creek. Young Francis was taking part in a Fourth of July celebration, and was impersonating a clown in the parade. The horse he was riding became frightened, and threw him to the pavement, injuring him very seriously. The message stated that he was unconscious and had been taken to the Baytown Hospital for medical attention. A second message was received late Sunday afternoon, giving little promise of improvement. The young man remained in an unconscious condition and his injuries were considered very serious.

S. C. Hoyle Is Speaker Sunday At Cottonwood

Sam C. Hoyle, Editor of College Publications, having been recently assigned to that position, and County Agent C. L. Beason motored out to Cottonwood on Sunday morning where Mr. Hoyle delivered a talk at the Baptist church in the absence of Rev. R. L. Brown. He took as his subject, "Dominant Voices" taken from Paul's vision on the way to Damascus when he heard a voice speak from the clouds.

C. L. Beason made a short talk before the Sunday School classes in the morning hour and made announcements regarding a revival to be held next week at Cottonwood and Alexander, Rev. Thompson and Rev. Brown each preaching in the respective churches in the morning with a union revival service at night at the Tabor community auditorium.

Mr. Hoyle, in his talk, brought out the fact that the telegraph operator, no matter what the noise of traffic are outside or 100 other disturbances around him, can distinguish and recognize his own calls. Likewise, the operators in the large factories can distinguish the sound of their own factory whistle. So do men in life hear the call of the voices which spring from dominant interests. The man seeking pleasure has his ear attuned to that. The boy seeking education has his ear attuned to the call of learning. Thus it is important that our ears be attuned to the important things in character-development and moral uplift; that the boys in club work who are the prize-winners, heed the call and the wisdom of information that pertains to their particular subject and keep their ear attuned to words of advice that might make them more proficient. As a result they would reap the harvest of success.

Likewise the farmers and home makers who keep their ear attuned to making their farm the best farm, their homes the best home, ought to ever hear the voice of instruction or experience which tells of success in these lines; and by applying these truths to their own problems reap a consequent success in improved home life, farm life and generally.

The great leaders of the world have been those who had their ear attuned to some particular problem and as a result, such men as Edison, Watts and Marconi have given to us the improvements which note the march of progress. The same applies to character-building, home-building, business-building and improvements of government and state.

Road Work In Brazos County Now Progressing

Road work in Brazos county is progressing. Reports from the Pitts Bridge are most satisfactory. A double force of workmen under the direction of R. B. Alexander, engineer is pushing the work to completion at the earliest date possible. The survey of the Bryan-College Road looking to the resurfacing and widening of the road is progressing without delay under the direction of A. R. Leckie, resident engineer of the State Highway Commission, and reports from A. McCormick, division engineer who has charge of the maintenance of the roads in Brazos and Robertson counties are that a force of workmen are working everyday getting the Bryan-Hearne road in good condition, following the washouts caused by the recent high waters. When this piece of road is put in good condition, the roads leading to and through Brazos county to the south will be in excellent condition.

BRAZOS MAY HAVE A LARGE LIGNITE FIELD ONLY WAITING DEVELOPMENT BY SOME ONE

John Konecny has on exhibition at the barber shop in the rear of the building occupied by Groginsky's store, a most interesting exhibit, all of which came from his farm, on Turkey Creek, on the Fin-Feather Road, south of Bryan about three miles. Perhaps the most valuable of the entire collection, and one of the most interesting, is the lignite, there being some dozen or so pieces which he chipped off from a strata and brought into Bryan, a piece or two being on exhibition at the Eagle office.

This lignite, said Mr. Konecny to an Eagle reporter, came from strata of the materials that is found in the banks of Turkey Creek and the ravines which run into the creek. On his farm is one of these lateral ravines and contains the lignite strata. Just how much lignite is there, he has not yet any idea; having made no investigation, but he assumes that the strata is quite thick and surface indications point to an ample supply. He says that one could go there with a team and wagon, and by use of just a pick, could fill a wagon in a few minutes. Mr. Konecny has not had the lignite tested for combustible efficiency as the A. and M. College is not in session and it would cost a great deal to have the analysis made. However, when school opens this fall and his son, Johnny Konecny, returns to school, Mr. Konecny plans to have some of the samples taken to the college and let some of the classes that do laboratory work, take this as a lesson. In this way the cost will amount to little if anything.

Included in the exhibit is a jar of earth which Mr. Konecny declares came from a narrow strata, only a few inches wide, that, almost unbelievable, runs vertically—almost straight up and down. Two other small rocks picked up in the channel of the creek flint eye seem to have a yellowish, silty in the sunlight and to the naked most golden sparkle. The glint seems to be in tiny specks of streaks of the rock.

DUSTING COTTON PLANTS WITH SULPHUR IS BEST MEASURE TO CONTROL THE COTTON HOPPER

(Special to the Eagle).
COLLEGE STATION, July 5.—Newspaper clippings and inquiries coming into the Extension Service A. and M. College of Texas, indicate the presence of the cotton hopper or cotton flea over the state. While it is by no means certain that there will be a dangerous infestation, yet it is well to be prepared to fight this pest, advises R. R. Reppert, entomologist.

The hoppers of fleas, both adults and nymphs, feed principally in the buds and growing tips of the branches of cotton. The injury is done to the squares when they are very small. The hopper is a very small insect, usually greenish in color, but easily seen with the naked eye. When present in large numbers in a cotton field, the adults will readily appear like small white gnats, darting among the plants when they are disturbed. Before developing wings the hoppers are small green bugs, reminding one somewhat of plant lice. They remain on the plant and may often be discovered with their beaks inserted in small squares from which they extract the sap.

The insert is in many respects a different one to deal with. Beginning in 1923, the Bureau of Entomology, U. S. D. A., began extensive and thorough experiments with this pest in the Delta Laboratory located at Tallulah, Louisiana, in order to determine the most effective methods of controlling it. These experiments are incomplete as yet, therefore, the recommendations here given for the control of the hopper are provisional only. They are the best that can be given in the light of present knowledge and are subject to future revision.

Dusting the cotton plants with sulphur is the best control measure found so far. There are two grades of sulphur that have been tried with good results, namely, superfine sulphur and flowers of sulphur. At present, superfine sulphur seems to be equally effective, if not more so, than the flowers of sulphur, and due to lower cost the superfine is recommended for hopper control. The ordinary type of dusting machinery used for the distribution of calcium arsenate for weevil control can be utilized for distributing sulphur. Three or four applications of superfine sulphur should be made at about five day intervals, or continued until the damage is no longer noticed. From eight to ten pounds of sulphur should be applied per acre at each application. Sulphur should be applied when the air is calm and dew is present on the plants, as in early morning or late in the afternoon, in order to secure the best results.

Old Negro Will Go to Galveston Attend Meeting

F. S. Sims, aged darky of Bryan, who was recently written up in The Eagle as an old Confederate veteran who served actively in the war, left on the afternoon train today for Galveston where he will attend the meetings of the Old Landmarks Association, an organization that is an outgrowth of the Lincoln Association and was formed by the negroes of the South some 25 years ago. Sims says that the two organizations meet each year there in Galveston. Sims helped throw up breast-works and fortifications at Galveston in Civil War days and will enjoy his return visit to that city.

Short Course Is To Be Given At Medina Ranch

The Southern Texas Short Course will be held at Medina Hereford Ranch in Bexar county, near San Antonio, from Wednesday noon, July 14th, to Friday night, July 16th. It is expected that there will be about 2,000 people from 35 counties in attendance. The Short Course is in charge of A. L. Smith, district agent. It is being put on by the staff members of the Extension Service and with the assistance of J. M. Jones, chief of the Animal Husbandry Department of the Experiment Station, and also O. F. Irving, of the Poultry Department.

This earth seems to contain sulphur and alum, both, the latter being proven by testing the soil. The sulphur is plain to be seen.

Not long ago a man stopped in at the barber shop and became interested in the jar of earth and said that he was an oil well driller from Mexico and that the jar of earth was nothing more than petroleum sand. He said that his explanation of the peculiar vertical strata of earth and the petroleum sand it is that at some period in history, a gasser blew out the hole now occupied by the sand, filling up the holes with the sand itself, which accounts for it being there so close to the surface of the ground. Another indication that this may be getting close to the proper solution is the fact that a rock that bears all the earmarks of volcanic origin, was picked up in the bed of the ravine. This rock would not have been washed more than a few hundred yards as the ravine is not more than that in length; therefore could not have been brought from a volcanic source at any great distance from where found.

Two other small rocks picked up in the channel of the creek flint eye seem to have a yellowish, silty in the sunlight and to the naked most golden sparkle. The glint seems to be in tiny specks of streaks of the rock.

Taken as a whole this is a most interesting exhibit and one that is worth any one's while to see. While it may be that there is no value to the finds, at the same time, it is possible that the Chamber of Commerce or some individual with capital become interested, and develop in this county a large lignite field to add to our resources and our industries. There is no telling what may happen in Brazos county or in Bryan where we have a Republican mayor in a Democratic city.

Millican

(Special to the Eagle)
MILLICAN, July 6.—Splendid church services were held here Sunday at the Methodist Church. The morning service was especially enjoyed, it seems. Rev. J. W. McCrary, Jr., the pastor, read the Declaration of Independence and talked at length on the spiritual side of the famous document. Splendid patriotic songs were sung and the organist played for an instrumental solo "Largo," by Handel. Special patriotic benefit was derived from the service and the congregation seemed to be highly pleased.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Jameson were visitors of our community for the week-end. They are from Wise county, where Mr. Jameson is doing county agent work. Out of town visitors for the week-end were Mr. and Mrs. Aubra Fuqua and baby, Curtis; Mrs. John Battle and her daughter, Sunshine, and Sidney Barker. They are all from Goose Creek.

A piano recital is to be given by Kirkland Edwards at the Methodist Church on Friday night, July 9th. He is to be assisted by Miss Georgia Earl Dunlap and Miss Margaret Davis. Miss Dunlap will play a piano solo and Miss Davis will give a reading. Out of town visitors are especially invited. No admission; it's free to one and all.

F. D. FULLER FORMALLY TAKES OVER PRESIDENCY OF BRYAN LIONS CLUB TODAY'S LUNCHEON

"In assuming the office of President of the Lions Club of Bryan, I appreciate not only the honor which has been conferred upon me but also the great responsibilities. Even an election to membership in the Lions Club of Bryan is in itself an honor, but to be chosen to direct the activities of the organization during the coming year is indeed a double compliment." This was the introduction of the inaugural address of Lion F. D. Fuller who was today installed as President of the Lions Club of Bryan. Mr. Fuller continued:

"Our Club, although young in years has a record of which any service club should be proud. Through the generous publicity given to our work by the local press, Bryan and Brazos county are familiar with our major activities of the past, and it is not necessary to refer to them in detail. "It is our purpose to continue the rural community work and lend our assistance and encouragement to the boys and girls on the farms in Brazos county by co-operating with the County Agent and Home Demonstration Agent. We propose to work out a project for the benefit of the boys and girls of the city of Bryan; to teach them something of our city government and the duties of the officers and commissions and even, with the approval of the city authorities, place elected officers in entire control of the city for a day. We wish to strive for the development of those qualities which make for higher and better citizenship, better men and women.

"We shall sponsor city improvements; development of the Haswell Memorial Park; more and better buildings and equipment for our public schools; improvement of all natural roads leading to stick of candy for being the tackiest ones.

Those present were: Misses Jewel Mathis, Una Edge, Mildred Foster, Louise Thompson, Merle Henry, Lela Fae Mathis, Letha Davis, Hazel Conlee of Beaumont and Winnie Cloud of Goose Creek; and Messrs Raymond Mathis, Marvin Morehead, Cliff Edge, John Edge, Raymond Terry, W. R. Haiser, Arthur Chapin.

"Any Lions Club which is inspired to serve others unselfishly, without hope of reward other than the satisfaction of having well performed a duty, is the club which will achieve the highest success and accomplish the greatest results. Lions who have caught the vision of unselfish service are living advertisements of the principles and ideals of Lionism and their example is an inspiration to everyone with whom they come in contact. They are not only on the road to success and happiness from a personal standpoint, but they are making it possible for us to achieve our ambition as an organization—which is to make the Lions Club of Bryan the most unselfish club in the State of Texas.

Extension Held Luncheon Meet Monday Noon

The Extension Service Department held a noon luncheon meeting on July 5th in the nature of a patriotic program owing to the day being a holiday in celebration of July 4th, which fell this year on Sunday. Jess Magee showed an enlargement of territory of the United States from colonial times to the present. Dr. T. O. Walton, president of the A. and M. College, delivered a patriotic talk, stressing the need for men and women to think clearly and constructively on citizenship problems if the Republic is to live. The Dish Pan Sextette rendered two vocal numbers: Santa Lucia and Juanita, accompanied by Miss Virginia West. The sextette was composed of Myrtle Murray, Bess Edwards, Mayme L. Hayden, Althea Smith, L. B. Gilpin and Lyndal Ward. The Mule Shoe Quartette, composed of Tom Calhoun, Al Swallow, Geo. Johnson and V. R. Glazener, sang "Just Before the Battle, Mother," and "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground." The meeting ended with all singing "The Star Spangled Banner," our national anthem. About 35 were present.

Play to Be Given At the Fickey School Thursday

There will be a play given at Fickey school on July 10, commencing about 8:30 p. m. The name of the play is "A Vision of the Home Land." A small admission will be charged, of 15 and 25 cents. There will also be music by C. and R. Hernandez, two expert players. Pies and cakes are to be sold, one to be given to the prettiest girl present that night. A talk will be made by Cliff M. Lopez on agriculture and education. Several recitations will be given. Most of the county candidates will also be present. The proceeds will go for the benefit of the community. The actors are as follows: Freddie Conrad, Cliff M. Lopez, Emanuel Kasiske, Theodore Plagens, Joe Roth, Curtis Hood, Rosa Mae Schram, Ella Hood, Alice Hood and Bertha Schmidt. Don't forget the date, for if you do, you will regret it afterward. Everybody invited. CLIFF M. LOPEZ, Reporter.

CONSIDER BEFORE YOU VOTE

There are several candidates for every office. In most instances, some one of these candidates is better qualified to fill the position than any of the others. This candidate may be less popular than any of his opponents. He may be a poor speech maker. He may be a poor campaigner. He fails to attract attention because he hesitates to slander and abuse another citizen who aspires to the same position. Yet, he is the man to vote for, because of all the candidates, he is best qualified to serve the people. Why wouldn't it be good business for voters to give careful consideration to the election of men to public office as they do to hiring men to work for them? Why is it that many Texas voters grow excited and enthusiastic over the candidacy of some man or woman because of some sensational event in their career or because of their ability to inject venom into their campaign speeches? Why vote for candidates who talk about matters not at issue and immaterial to the campaign? In the contest for the office of governor, are we voting for some man or woman because of the existence of personal differences, or for a candidate who will, when elected, give us an efficient, honest, business administration? Why grow excited about the campaign for governor in Texas? Let the candidates rave and slander one another. The more they do it, the more evidence there is of their unfitness for office. All the voters have to do is to sit down and calmly consider each candidate's qualifications for the position, and then vote for the one who, in his or her opinion, is best qualified. —Farm and Ranch.

High School	7	.777

In one of the most interesting Sunday School League games of the season, last evening on Allen Field, the Methodist team defeated the High School nine, proteges of Will Poindexter, in full five-inning game, by the score of 4 to 2; and the game was even closer than the score would indicate. The Methodists took the lead in the first half of the first inning and were never headed, though threatened at times. Colson, for the high school, pitched a very good game but weakened toward the last and lost control, though holding the Methodists through fairly good support during the closing innings. Glenn Cloud for the Methodists kept the hits scattered and held the High School to one earned run. The Methodists got one earned run.

First Inning. Methodists: Vergne Adams singled to first and stole second. Walker struck out. Robinson out when he grounded through pitcher's box to second and was thrown out at first. Cox singled to third and Adams going to third and scoring when Glenn Cloud got on by first's error in letting the ball through him. Then right fielder, who fielded the ball, threw wild to third to catch Cloud score as well as Adams and Cox in this inning. J. Hudson was out, first unassisted.

High School: M. Barron doubled over third and scored when Dancyb singled to short. Dancyb stole second. Barron flew out to Vergne Adams between second and first. Dancyb took third when Clarence Cloud was out, pitcher to first. Rufus Barron out, second to first.

Second Inning. Methodists: Sam Harrison out, third to first; Munday got on by first's error, Groth was hit by a pitched ball, advancing Munday to second. V. Adams singled between first and second, right-fielder throwing out Munday at the plate. Walker struck out, Groth dying on third.

High School: C. Cobb out, second to first. J. Cobb singled over second and went to second on a passed ball. Cox popped out to short. Jones walked and each base runner advanced when Barron singled filling the bases by grounding to third who held the ball when there was no one covering second. Dancyb was out at first, pitcher to first, Cloud pulling out of a bad hole.

Third Inning. Methodists: Robinson flew out to second. Cox tripled to deep left, over the fielder; scoring when cream to the College creamery. His garden was as good as any in the country until the rain stopped falling, but the soil is of the black variety and was fertilized with barnyard fertilizer and baked so that now the family has to depend largely on the neighbors for products. The tomatoes developed a blight in that the lower end has on them a big black spot. Mr. Graham has 120 acres of his large farm in pasture on which runs the stock. He is no longer interested in beef cattle.

Methodist Society In Regular Meet

The Woman's Missionary Society of the First Methodist Church met Tuesday afternoon at the church, instead of Monday on account of Monday being declared a holiday. Mrs. W. H. Cole, president and Mrs. A. K. Brown, secretary was at her post of duty. Dr. H. H. McCain, pastor of the church was present and led the devotional exercises, reading the 26th Psalm for the lesson. Dr. McCain gave a helpful and spiritual talk on honesty and integrity of the heart, inspiring the women to be true to themselves and take advantage of their great privilege in serving the church. Roll call was answered with items from the church and the chairman of each group gave a report of the work accomplished during June. Mrs. E. J. Jenkins reported for No. 1; Mrs. A. M. Waldrop for No. 2; Mrs. Dona Carnes for No. 3; Mrs. R. W. Downard for No. 4; Mrs. John Seeley Caldwell for No. 5. Due to lack of attendance the report of the delegate, Mrs. John Seeley Caldwell, to the district meeting of the Woman's Missionary conference at Huntsville, was postponed until the first Monday in August.

W. E. Graham Says the Flea Is Causing Damage

W. E. Graham, one of the leading farmers of the Shirock-Wellborn community, was in Bryan on Tuesday and stated that the cotton flea was doing much damage to cotton in his fields and over the entire section in which he lives. He said he had 260 acres in cotton, but his yield will be considerably cut down by the activity of the cotton flea. He has also about 40 acres of corn but is burning up, due to the fact that it has had practically no rain in the past seven weeks. He expects it to make about 15 bushels to the acres which will not supply sufficient feed for his stock as he is running about 10 Jersey dairy cattle and about 20 head of horses and mules. He has one acre of peanuts for hogs and about an acre of sorghum. He is entering his efforts on building up a good Jersey dairy herd and sells

TICK FEVER IS CAUSE OF LOSS BRAZOS CATTLE

Quite a few cattle in Brazos County are dying from tick fever, according to information received from State Livestock Inspector R. E. Smith, assigned to Brazos and Grimes counties, with headquarters in Bryan. Mr. Smith had been inspector for Brazos county but was given the additional work of Grimes county on the first of June. Mr. Smith names some of the heaviest losers as: Claude Buchanan, Horace Dancyb, Ed Payne of Edge and Will Locke. Many of the cattle lost, according to Mr. Smith, are dairy cows of family dairies in Bryan, and valuable animals. He estimates that the loss so far this year will run into several hundreds of dollars. In connection with his work, Mr. Smith asks that shippers give him several days' notice as the additional work in Grimes county causes him to have to cover a good deal of territory and the advance notice will enable him to make the necessary arrangements.

MY IMPROVED KITCHEN MRS. GRANT McDONALD

Our kitchen is 8 by 12 feet, not large enough to put many closets in, so we utilized the bathroom and dining room for that purpose. My husband did the work, so we have no bill for labor. He built a china closet with glass doors in the dining room, which opens into the kitchen for convenience in getting dishes. He made a wheel-tray wagon out of the baby carriage, which stands directly under these doors. I can put dishes on the tray, roll to the stove, fill the dishes, roll to the dining room all in one trip. Our kitchen was unclean, walls of rough boards. We covered the ceiling with heavy card board from boxes (and covered the walls with oil cloth, using wooden strips for panels. These are painted a cream white to match woodwork and cabinet.

My husband built two closets in the bathroom, one under the chimney, which opens into the kitchen. One is for pots and irons, brooms and brushes; the other for cooking utensils. We used two old doors. Stove pipe was replaced by a brick chimney, and the stove moved to a more convenient place. We already had a 25,000 gallon water tank. A friend donated the necessary pipe to connect with the kitchen.

One of my greatest joys is the woodbox. It is built under the window (which was raised, giving more light) and is about 36 by 34 inches inside, with the lid making a comfortable window seat. The garbage can is kept in the right hand corner, just two feet from my work table. It is about 36 by 24 inches outside the window, and has a drop door to fill from the outside.

Our kitchen cabinet was a dark brown, so it was repainted to match the woodwork. In it are the flour and meal bins, silver drawer and towel drawer. Next to this on the left side is a towel rack! on the right side on the wall a kitchen reminder, or grocery list with pegs, home-made. My sister gave us an old oil stove which is good as new after a thorough cleaning. On the shelf of this stove is the clock and lamp. Things That Did Not Cost Anything.

Two old doors and casing for closets from old vacant house. Paint, two years old. Ceiling, pasteboard boxes from grocery. Window curtains made of flour sacks. Laundry bag for towels on inside of closet door; bag for paper bags on inside of other closet door—both made of flour sacks. Kitchen reminder made of card board and burnt match stubs (donated). Baseboard, made of old window casings. One large butcher knife and two small paring knives made of an old saw, by husband. Clock moved to kitchen. All working surfaces raised to correct working height. Oil stove discarded by sister, cleaned and good as new. Wheel tray wagon made of baby carriage. Brick for chimney three years old. Pipe for water from tank, donated. Labor done by husband.

Harvey.

(Special to the Eagle) HARVEY, July 8.—The crops around Harvey look green and flourishing. Corn bids fair to make a fine crop but we never know about the cotton until it is made. So much depends on whether or not the many pests indigenous to it infest or pass it by. Gardens have been unusually good this year.

Mention was made in one of last month's Eagles of a huge beet. Mrs. J. C. Davidson also raised several beet with tops that would have measure six feet; cabbages that weighed 14-12 pounds, and from one 10 cent package of English pea seed, she gathered 421 quarts of fresh peas, besides leaving a good portion for seed. She still has six varieties of vegetables besides watermelons and cantaloupes. Who says a garden does not pay?

The B. Y. P. U. had its regular meeting Sunday night with a good crowd attending. There were thirteen visitors. A good program was rendered, including some beautiful songs. After the program a discussion was held as to giving some kind of a supper to raise money for cleaning off the old Bethel cemetery. It was finally decided to serve ice cream and cake on the church yard on the night of Wednesday, July 14th. A full patronage is solicited from the public to aid in this worthy cause.

Bert Phillips of Madison county has begun a vocal class at the school house. The lessons began Monday morning, the 5th, and are open to all who wish to learn to sing by note. Quite a good crowd was present at the first meeting. George Davidson, who has been sojourning in Trapatu, Mexico, for the past six months, returned to Harvey about three weeks ago. The second day after his arrival at home, he was operated upon at the Bryan hospital for antrum trouble, having previously made arrangements with Dr. Oliver for the operation before leaving Mexico as he had been in bad health all during his stay there. Dr. Oliver, assisted by Doctors Benbow and Black, made a successful operation and he is now rapidly regaining his health and strength. George is well pleased with the success of the treatment he received. He will remain with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Davidson until he is quite well and strong, and can obtain a work somewhere at his vocation of electrical engineering.

Miss Telma Minkhart of Greenville is a visitor in the home of her uncle, Lee Andrews.
